The term employee refers to a person employed at a workplace for any work on regular, temporary adhoc, either directly or through an agent, including a contractor with or without the knowledge of the principal employer, whether for remuneration or not, or working on a voluntary basis or otherwise whether the terms of employment are express or implied and includes a co-worker, contract worker , probationer, trainee, apprentice or called by any other such name.

- b. All company-related activities performed at any other site away from the Company's premises.
- c. Any social, business or other functions where the conduct or comments may have an adverse impact on the work place or workplace relations.

(III) Definition of sexual harassment

Sexual Harassment includes such unwelcome sexually determined behavior, as physical contacts and advances, sexually colored remarks, showing pornography and sexual demands whether by words, gestures or actions. Such conduct can be humiliating and may constitute a health and safety problem. It is discriminatory when the complainant has reasonable grounds to believe that his other objection would disadvantage them in connection with employment, including recruiting or promotion or when it creates a hostile working environment.

Sexual harassment includes such unwelcome sexually determined behavior (whether directly or by implication) as:

- a. Physical contact and advances;
- b. A demand or request for sexual favors;
- c. Sexually colored remarks;
- d. Showing pornography;
- e. Any other unwelcome physical, verbal or non-verbal conduct of sexual nature.

Sexual harassment is emotionally abusive and creates an unhealthy, unproductive atmosphere at the workplace. Sexual harassment cases can be classified into two categories - quid pro quo and creation of a hostile working environment.

- a. Under the quid pro quo (meaning this for that) form of harassment, a person or authority, usually the superior of the aggrieved women, demands sexual favors for getting or keeping a job benefit and threatens to fire the employee if the conditions are not met.
- b. A hostile work environment arises when a co-worker or supervisor creates a work environment through verbal or physical conduct that interferes with another co-worker's job performance or creates the workplace atmosphere which is intimidating, hostile, offensive or humiliating and experienced as an attack on personal dignity. For example an employee tells offensive jokes. No person shall indulge or caused to be indulged under instructions from superior in sexual harassment of co-workers.

The following circumstances, among other circumstances, if it occurs or is present in relation to or connected with any act or behaviour of sexual harassment may amount to sexual harassment:

- a. Implied or explicit promise of preferential treatment in her employment or
- b. Implied or explicit threat of detrimental treatment in her employment; or
- c. Implied or explicit threat about her present or future employment status: or
- d. Interference with her work or creating an intimidating or offensive or hostile work environment for her; or
- e. Humiliating treatment likely to affect her health or safety

However, an employee who is sexually harassed can complain about the same even if there is no adverse job consequence.

(VII) Dealing with the Complaint

Given that this policy highlights a preventive focus, there is a need to distinguish between an informal and formal process.

(VIII) Informal Complaint Redressal Mechanism

Informal processes normally involve an intermediary means for resolving a problem. In the case of Sexual Harassment, at first instance, the person (i.e. HOD/ HR/ Woman representative of the location) may be the point of first contact for anyone seeking informal support/ intervention to stop unwelcome behavior.

A sense of restraint and responsibility on the part of all concerned is critical for the effective functioning of these guidelines. The preventive / informal process that can be adopted is as follows:

1. Convey to the person who is the cause of distress, about what that person’s actions, words, behavior is doing and convey in no uncertain terms that such behavior is not appreciated. What is important is the “Way” a particular behavior, action or word is perceived; “Intent” is of no consequence.
2. The second step would be to approach someone within the company – preferably your Superior or HR Representative. The Superior or HR Representative would then try and counsel / talk it over with a view towards closing the matter amicably.
3. In any case all such incidents along with the resolution, needs to be reported to the Head of HR who will then provide a short report to the ICC and the matter will be closed.
4. However, in the event of it not being resolved, then it would need to be escalated to the ICC.
